The Windows To Your Soul Need New Curtains:

Cybele's Fall Eye Shadow Extravaganza!

Eye shadow has always been a favorite of mine, so this installment of Cybele Says is dedicated to the new fall selections. I also included a few from summer that I simply couldn't leave out. Whether your collection needs a total overhaul or just a few key items, this should help get you through the jungle that is the world of eye shadow.

Because they're still in - big time - those listed below are shimmer eye shadows, except where noted. You'll find price guide and purchase locations at the very end.

BEST WORK COLORS Most people would say that "work attire" should be toned down. It depends on where you work and I think that with eye shadow, if it is done correctly, you can get away with almost any color. Here are my picks:

"My Girl Wants To Party All the Time" type-evening

Hard Candy Eye Shadow Quads - Pixie, Moody or Disco 2000. Pick any of them but just get out and get one!

Gazelle Satin Veil - the hottest pink (matte) I could find - fuchsia even. Makes eyes pop! Caution: Keep the rest of the face to a minimum when wearing this color!

Anna Sui Eye Color #400 - another great bright red (matte) from the woman who practically invented the color red.

Chanel Platinum Face Powder - fine pressed powder with pure iridescent silver pigments.

Orlane Fluid Eye Shadow in Champagne (a shimmery gold).

Shu Uemura in Orange. Shu is the best, hands down.

MAC single eye shadow in Humid. A beautiful moss green. Be different.
